Patlabor Vol. 3:

This is the story that you've been waiting for ... the Second Platoon versus a Giant Monster! A mysterious appearance in Tokyo Bay ... fish disappearing, romantic couples being terrorized! At the same time, a mad scientist appears, troubled by the monster appearances. Clancy and Noa, seeking some answers, begin looking for a connection. The professor, called Dr. Hirata, reveals that HE created the monster and the monster got away. He and the Second Platoon come up with various plans to try to capture/kill the monster but come up with nothing that seems to work. And, then the monster appears! ...

Riding Bean:

The Road Buster is a professional driver that rents his services out to various people as needed. One night, he rents his services to a bunch of thieves pulling off a bank job. But, it seems as though someone is watching him ...

The next morning, he and his partner are awakened by a knock on the door. A guardsman from a large industry has come with a young girl, asking for transport back to his employer's place. He claimed that kidnappers were after the young girl who is the daughter of the president and he had rescued her to make it here. Just as he finishes, a hit takes place and he is killed.

The Road Buster accepts the job and sets off with his partner. After he's gone, the "dead" guardsman gets up and smirks ...

When the Road Buster arrives at the mansion, armed guardsmen attack him, demanding the return of the girl. It seems as though the Road Buster has bitten off more than he can chew now ...
